

Induct, train and track with CS Induction

A module of the powerful IntegralCS system, CS Induction gives you an online portal that provides training in a self-paced online environment.

With the flexibility to deliver a range of induction and training modules, CS Induction can use your existing materials or PowerPoint presentations, or you can use our professional production services.

Trainees and inductees can access CS Induction from anywhere with online access – so you can deliver onsite inductions while centralising record keeping.

BENEFITS MEAN MORE EFFICIENT TRAINING CS Incident specific benefits, include:

Flexible Application use CS Induction for all online training requirements

Trainee Identification to track sessions and correlate with other IntegralCS modules

Content Options can include audio visual materials, PowerPoint presentations or documents

Assessment Options include multiple choice with images and rotating questions

Answer Evaluation assesses the responses, and if successful:

- > Records the result
- > Provides a receipt
- > Notifies administrators

Administrator Options to:

- > Brand modules with your graphics
- > Create new modules
- > Upload and configure presentation material
- > Set questions and the pass mark
- > Review and analyse records

Integration with other Integral CS modules

Case Study:

CS Induction and Shell Australia

"CS Induction has more than met our expectations. The feedback from our staff and contractors about the functionality and ease of use of the system has been overwhelmingly good."

Ian Bell, HSSE Manager
The Shell Company of Australia Limited

About the project...

Shell Australia needed a system that could provide specific inductions based on site and business unit selections. CRUSE Partnership Australia worked closely with Shell Australia to deliver this functionality through a tailored implementation of CS Induction, whilst ensuring ease of use and maintaining flexibility to cater for future requirements.
